

SUDAN

INTRODUCTION

Between the 14th and 15th centuries much of Sudan was settled by Arab nomads, and between the 16th-19th centuries it underwent extensive Islamization. Following independence from Anglo-Egyptian co-rule in 1956, military regimes favoring Islamic-oriented governments have dominated national politics. A referendum on independence for Southern Sudan was held in January 2011 and indicated overwhelming support for independence. South Sudan became independent in July 2011.
